OLD COVERED BRIDGE TO GO ON ROAD JOB

The state Department of Highways advertised for bids today for two road construction projects in eastern Adams County, one of them involving construction of a modern prestressed concrete bridge to replace an old covered bridge.

The bridge to be replaced is the 112-year-old 54-foot covered span over the south branch of Conewago Creek a mile south of Conewago Chapel. It is on the McSherrystown-Centennial bridge and usually is called the Mt. Rock or Centennial covered bridge.

The bridge will be replaced with a 104-foot modern span of concrete and steel as part of a road building job on Legislative Route 01005, the road from Centennial to the Hanover-Gettysburg Rd., just west of McSherrystown. OPEN BIDS JULY 13

Bids, being asked in an advertisement in today's edition of The Gettysburg Times, will be for construction of 4,296 feet of 20-foot roadway and the widening of an additional 3,186 feet to 20-foot width.

The other construction job on which bids are being asked today is extending construction work done two years ago on the "Old Bittering's Road" leading from the Hanover-Cross Keys highway past Bittering's quarries toward New Oxford.

The sections to be built total 5,950 feet of roadway, extending from each end of the section built previously. One extension will carry the road over to Route 94 and the other will eliminate dangerous curves on Red Hill and extend to the New Oxford-Irish-town Rd.

Bids on both projects will be opened by the state Highways Department at Harrisburg at 11 a.m. on July 13.

GROWERS VOTE ON NEW APPLE ORDER IN JULY

HARRISBURG (AP)—Voting on Pennsylvania's first proposed statewide apple marketing order will be held July 23-30.

William L. Hennings, secretary of agriculture, ordered the election Tuesday after weighing testimony collected at public hearings May 24-25 in Harrisburg.

"The prospect of increased production in the face of decreasing per capita consumption of fresh fruit calls for increased promotion and research," Hennings declared. "We feel the marketing order is the best technique to meet this problem."

To become effective, the proposed order must be approved by two-thirds of the state's apple growers—representing more than half of the apple crop volume. If approved, it will become effective Sept. 1.

FUND FOR PROMOTION

The unique feature of the order is an assessment to be paid by growers with 200 or more trees to help finance special promotion, research and information programs.

The assessments would be based on production volume—three cents per bushel for fresh market apples; three cents per hundred weight for juice apples.

A nine-man advisory board also would be set up by the growers to recommend the promotion programs.

Under rules and regulations laid down by Hennings, the referendum will be conducted by mail and the votes will be counted in the presence of a committee composed of both opponents and proponents of the order.

If approved, the order—authorized by the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Act of 1961—will affect 800 apple growers in the state.

50 Schools In 12 States Donate $1,700 To GBPA

More than $1,700 was contributed by more than 50 schools from 12 different states during May to help save the battlefield.

Directors of the Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Association were told at their regular June meeting that $3,173.15 was received by mail from school children all over the country during the three months period—March, April and May. In addition $1,165 has been received by various organizations in a number of states.

Deeds have accounted for $218 in the period; the Milk Cart, $849.67, and $1,912.98 was received from the Ohio state committee. A California 4-H club sent $5 and the Chicago Civil War Round Table, following their visit here in April, contributed $550.

A recent feature in the Sunday magazine section of the Pittsburgh-Post stimulated considerable response from school children and individuals in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio.

The battlefield preservation project received impetus in Illinois in May when Dr. Theodore Whitfield, head of the history department of Western Maryland College, Westminster, Md., a director of GBPA, presented the association's certificate of merit to the Hoover School, Calumet City, Ill. A citation was also presented to Martin Brill, social studies teacher of the Hoover School, for his intensive work in directing the school campaign.

Attending the ceremonies were Illinois legislative and cabinet officials, as well as personal representatives of Senator Paul Douglas, Senator Everett Dirksen and the assembly direct telephone book-up from the capital in Washington.

Describing the project of saving the Gettysburg Battlefield as "one of the most inspired projects ever undertaken," Senator Dirksen said the Hoover School, being selected for another term as secretary, Mrs. Hiemenz also was elected to the board of directors.

At the annual election of officers, Mrs. Mary Ramer Eberhart, Gettysburg, was named guardian for the statewide organization and Mrs. Lucy Hiemenz, Lancaster, formerly of Gettysburg, was elected for another term as secretary. Mrs. Hiemenz also was elected to the board of directors.

Several of the directors lamented the loss by the association of its option to purchase for $10,500, the Gun Club property, east of Cemetery Hill along Wainwright Ave., which it was reported has now been sold or will be sold for commercial use.

The audited report of GBPA recorded that the 35-acre Wolf farm which had been acquired at $20,000 and has been deeded to the U. S. Government. The report further recorded that $53,000 had been paid toward the acquisition of the Neals farm.

A further payment on this property of $2,000 was ordered to be made before the end of the month.

Frederick Altice, 31, Aspers, was placed in the county jail in default of bail Tuesday evening on charges of driving while under the influence and "hit and run" driving, following an auto accident near East Berlin.

State police said Altice was driving south on the Heidlersburg-East Berlin Rd., two miles north of East Berlin at 5:45 o'clock Tuesday evening, when his car smashed into the left side of a northbound auto driven by Clair H. UPPER ADAMS LIONS INDUCT NEW OFFICERS

Upper Adams Lions Tuesday evening voted donations totaling $315, heard about plans for next year's observance of the 100th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and installed their officers for the club year beginning July 1.

The retiring president, Cecil R. Snyder, presided at the meeting in the social room of the Biglerville United Church of Christ.

The club voted $300 for Little League baseball at Biglerville and $15 to the Girl Scouts.

A former president, the Rev. Nevin R. Frantz, conducted the installation of this staff of officers for the year: President, Donald Shetter; fire vice president, John C. No Steel Price Rise Until Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—The effects of the clash with President Kennedy rule out serious thoughts of a steel price increase before September, the Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly said the earliest possibility would be in that month and could only be selective.

It made the comment after noting that the new steel labor contract will add an estimated $2 a ton to the cost of making steel when it becomes effective July 1.

The added cost will come, it added, at a time when steel orders are at a rate that would justify steel production equal to only 50 per cent of capacity.

The new labor contract may cause considerable disruption at the local level, the Iron Age said, because of what it termed complicated security provisions that are still being worked out.

Will Begin Work On Hall Supports

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Work will begin about July 1 and continue seven months on a $108,690 project to install structural steel supports in Independence Hall.

HERO DIES IN JET COLLISION OVER GERMANY

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—An American flying hero and three West German air force pilots were killed Tuesday in the collision of four supersonic jet fighters.

The four planes, U.S.-built F104 Starfighters, were flying a tight, low-level formation in rehearsal for an air show when they collided and crashed about 10 miles southwest of Cologne.

An eyewitness said the planes were flying in box formation. The top pair collided and dropped onto the lower two. They were too low for the pilots to bail out.

The American victim was Capt. Jon G. Speer, 29, of Los Angeles, one of a group of U.S. Air Force instructors with the West German air force.

Speer was about to be awarded the Air Medal for landing another F104 safely two months ago after a lightning bolt had smashed the plane's nose and knocked out 90

Mayor Will Check Brutality Charges

HARRISBURG (AP)—Mayor Nolan F. Ziegler has promised to look into allegations of police brutality and discrimination against Negroes.

Three representatives of civil liberties organizations complained to City Council Tuesday that at least three police officers were involved in alleged brutality and discrimination.

They said five Negroes were arrested for disorderly conduct Saturday night for protesting the removal of one of them from a dance hall by a policeman "for no apparent reason."

The charges were dismissed by an alderman on Monday.

Lodging the complaints were the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Harrisburg Human Relations Commission.

"Thousands of men, women and children and hundreds of organizations are with us in our fight to save the Gettysburg Battlefields. It is our hope, of course, that by the 100th anniversary of the great conflict that took place here in 1863, we will have accomplished our mission."

"We are gratified over the progress we have made but we have a long way to go," Col. Haller commented.

TREXLER NAMED

Director Scott Trexler, Allentown, was assigned the task of organizing further state committees and will compile a monthly bulletin of the accomplishments of the association as matter of information to state committees and inspiring greater activity.

Col. Haller had high praise for Dr. Whitfield and the results he attained by his school program. "The interest of these youngsters in schools all over the country is proof that we are right in our efforts to save this hallowed ground for posterity," Col. Haller said.

Announcement of the Civil War course being conducted at Gettysburg College in July prompted Col. Haller to remark that the preservation project arose from the first conference and that the association was organized by a group of men from several states who have since conducted the program without "reimbursement even for their own expenses in coming here each month for meetings."

Old Mt. Holly School Is Sold

Cumberland County Court at Carlisle Tuesday authorized the sale of Mt. Holly Springs' century-old Chestnut St. School to that borough's fire company for $20,000. President Judge Dale F. Shugart, following a hearing, said he would sign an order permitting the sale.

During the hearing, two Carlisle realtors, P. K. Miller and W. H. Hooke, testified that the $20,000 offered by the fire company was a "better price than could be obtained by a public sale."

The sale was approved by a borough school board resolution on April 16, and the sales agreement was made on April 30.

Mt. Holly Springs now has a more modern elementary school, which has been enlarged by a $170,000 six-room annex.

Hanover police estimated damage to the bus, owned by Lincoln Bus Lines, Hanover, at $10 and to the Redding car at $125. There were no passengers on the bus at the time, police said.

Harold E. and Nettie C. Day, Gettysburg R. 2, have sold a property on High St. in Cashtown, to Miss Lillian H. Brown, 639 Red Patch Ave. Immediate possession will be given. The sale was made by West's through John C. Bream.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Baumgardner-Snyder Wedding: Miss M. Louella Snyder, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder, 9 Hanover St., became the bride of Carl H. Baumgardner, Littlestown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Baumgardner, Taneytown, Md., in a wedding performed at the bride's home at 4 o'clock. The single ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. Frederick B. Crane, pastor of the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church. About 35 guests were in attendance. The bride was attended by Miss Frances Nace, a teacher in the Hanover schools and a classmate of Miss Snyder while she studied for her master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania two years ago. Ralph Baumgardner, Baltimore, Md., a brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Mrs. Baumgardner is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and from Gettysburg college with the degree of bachelor of arts. She is head of the English department in the Hanover High School. Mr. Baumgardner is a graduate of Taneytown high school. Following his graduation he entered business. He is now engaged in the produce business in Littlestown and Baltimore.

First Sit-Down Strike: Gettysburg's first sit-down strike was called and promptly quelled this morning. The strikers were fired, paid and replaced by loyal workers. Ten of C. W. Epley's truck drivers, engaged in hauling stone and amesite to battlefield avenues for the Highway Engineering and Construction company, called a strike. Six failed to report for work and four others drove to the company mixing plant and then stayed "sitting down" at the wheels of the trucks, refusing to drive them on to the loading point. Epley was notified. He appeared on the scene, ordered the strikers from the trucks, replaced them with mechanics from his shops and took the "strikers" who had not complained to him or presented any requests for higher wages, to his office on Chambersburg street where each was paid in full. The suggestion that he might reconsider this discharge was met with a flat refusal and "you're through forever and three days around here."

Walter Snyder Is Dead: Walter Ault Snyder, 58, Chambersburg street insurance agent and a former justice of the peace in Gettysburg, died at 7:20 a.m. in the Annie M. Warner Hospital after being critically ill since May 30 when he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Snyder was widely known in Adams county, having served as a justice of the peace for nearly two years in Gettysburg and having been treasurer of the Adams county republican committee for a number of years. He was active in Masonic work, was an elder of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church for a number of years, was superintendent of the adult department of the Sunday School and had held office in the county Sunday School organization. Surviving are his widow and two sons, Robert P., and Warren R.

Schiebel-Sponseller: At a party given by Miss Ellen E. Tipton at her home on Buford avenue on Friday in honor of Miss Mary L. Sponseller, the wedding of Miss Sponseller to the Rev. Robert H. Schiebel was announced for August 15. The legend of the announcement appeared on a pink and white cake. Mrs. Ray Kitzmiller and Miss Esther Tipton presided at the refreshment table. Miss Sponseller, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Sponseller, R. D., is a clerk in the Gettysburg National Bank and is active in local Sunday School circles. The Rev. Mr. Schiebel, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Schiebel, Hanover, R. D., was recently licensed as a Lutheran preacher and will graduate from the local next June. He is now serving as supply pastor at St. Paul's Lutheran Church at New Baltimore.

HUMAN CONTACTS

For me, one of the greatest joys of life comes with the thrill that always accompanies my making of new contacts — human contacts.

Stale brains, stale hearts, stale bodies — we all get these! And when that time arrives, no matter what you are doing — make a change. Seek new contacts. Move away from your business, from your home, from your self. Change stimulates and stirs. Change changes your vibrations. One winter, while vacationing, I drove in my car over a part of the country of which I am very fond. I saw sights that both thrilled and depressed me. But the greatest happiness came with my making of new contacts — human contacts.

I shall never cease to marvel over God's wisdom in making every human from a different mould. Because He did this, no matter where I go, I shall always be making new contacts. I shall be meeting new people.

When one meets new people one compares notes. One learns something from another. Two can reminisce and weigh experiences. Two people can learn something — one from the other. Two people grow in sight of each other.

Never believe that time and place and human contacts are incidental and commonplace. There are people with whom you come in contact who may have it in their power to lift you into a new existence. Seek them out. I daily feel the need of Human Contacts. Don't you?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Pause!" Protected, 1962, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

HUMAN ODDITY

What foolish things we mortals do! For instance, there are people who spend fortunes on their houses great

And more to men to decorate The walls with pictures, old and rare, Till beauty blossoms everywhere. They load the shelves with costly books;

Hire butlers, valets, maids and cooks, Yet in surroundings such as these Where heart and mind should be at ease

And joy be known and laughter ring, They spend their time in quarrelling.

How strange it is and salty true That often there are people who With all that human hearts desire Which gold and silver can acquire Will search for beauty when they roam

And still be blind to it at home. With art they'll find each room and hall, Yet get no pleasure from it all. With bindings gay they'll line their shelves

Yet never quite be gay themselves, Because some silly, trifling thing Forever sets them quarrelling.

"Aunt Jenny" Dies: Miss Mary Jane Rosensteel, 86, died Saturday afternoon at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Rosensteel, Round Top, ending a 71-year period of sickness, 66 years of which she was bedfast. "Aunt Jenny," as she was called, was stricken with a heart ailment after the tragic accidental death of her father, George Rosensteel, who fell into an idle lime kiln and died of suffocation. Three years later her condition was aggravated by the accidental shooting of Thomas Lee by Weems Black, the latter mistaking the former for a chicken thief. Both were hired men on the Rosensteel farm. In 1887 she was taken to the newly built Round Top inn by her brothers, John and George.

RAIN ACROSS STATE

HARRISBURG (AP) — Steady rain last week brought much needed moisture to most Pennsylvania farms, but it also had some drawbacks, the State Crop Service reports.

The rain brought field operations to near normal, but a surplus of soil moisture slowed field work in the northwestern part of the state.

Compared with its rural neighbors, a city has 5 to 10 per cent more clouds and precipitation. Temperatures average 1 to 2 degrees higher. The windspeed in a city is 30 to 30 per cent less than in the surrounding country and the relative humidity is 3 to 10 per cent lower.

ZARLEY WINS DURHAM MEDAL

By KEN ALYTA

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Phase Two of the NCAA Golf Tournament starts today: Match play among 64 survivors of the starting field of 215.

Thirteen golfers will fight for five positions among the qualifiers. They shot 156 against the cut score of 155.

Kermit Zarley of Houston won the medal with a 140 total on rounds of 68-72. His first round 68 was one of only three sub-par rounds wrung from the unyielding Duke course, a par 71 test measuring 6,823 yards.

FINALS SATURDAY

Charles Layton of Georgia, quarter-finalist last year, had one of the two other sub par rounds, a 70, for a 143 qualifying score that tied him with Dick Dion of Duke and John Lotz of San Jose State.

Alone in fourth at 145 was James Gabrielson of Georgia, whose second round 70 completed the par battering.

Two rounds today and Thursday will be followed by semifinals Friday and the 36-hole final Saturday.

Houston clinched its sixth team title in seven years, regaining the crown it lost to Purdue. The Cougars had a four-man, 36-hole aggregate score of 588, 10 better than runnerup Oklahoma State.

Orioles Drop Yankees Into Fourth Place With 3-1 Victory; Angels In Third

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Angels took over third place from the Yankees in the American League race Tuesday night by beating the Yankees' favorite patsies—the Kansas City Athletics. Their 7-4 decision was the Angels' sixth straight victory over the A's and their ninth in 12 meetings this year.

Boston knocked off Cleveland's front-running Indians 4-2, Minnesota moved up by rapping Chicago 9-4, Baltimore won its fifth in a row and handed the Yankees their fifth successive defeat, 3-1, and Frank Lary recorded his first victory in over two months with a neat six-hitter as Detroit blanked Washington 5-0.

The results left Cleveland a bare half game ahead of the Twins, Los Angeles 2½ in third, and the Yankees slumped to fourth, three games behind the Indians.

The Angels socked four homers, three doubles and collected six walks against four Kansas City pitchers but had to struggle to beat the A's.

Angel starter Ken McBride homered off loser John Wyatt in the third and Leon Wagner raised his league-leading total to 19 when he connected with a man on in the fifth.

The Orioles, shut out the last four times Chuck Estrada started, finally gave the hard-throwing right-hander enough runs to win against the Yankees. Brooks Robinson paced Baltimore with a tie-breaking homer against Ralph Terry in the sixth inning and a run-scoring single in the eighth.

Harmon Killebrew launched Minnesota's assault on the White Sox when he cracked his 15th homer with one on in the first off Juan Pizarro. The Twins got two more off the Chicago lefty in the second on four straight walks and a sacrifice fly, then ripped Don Zanni with a five-run explosion in the fifth. Southpaw Jim Kaat slugged a homer, Vic Power did the same, and Bob Allison followed with another with two aboard. With all this support Kaat breezed to his seventh victory in 11 decisions.

Bill Monbouquette cooled off the Indians, who had won four in a row and nine of 12, pitching a four-hitter. The Boston right-hander had a shutout going until the eighth, when a walk and Gene Green's pinch homer gave Cleveland its two runs.

Lary posted his second victory of the season after eight futile tries and won for the first time since April 13 with his shutout over Washington. The 23-game winner of last year, hampered by a sore shoulder recently and now 2-4, limited the Senators to six singles, walked one and struck out five.

RUSSIAN TEAM EYES CROWN IN WRESTLING

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Russian team in the World Amateur Wrestling Championships hopes for a repeat of the 1961 tournament in Japan, where the Soviets collected seven of 16 gold medals.

But the Russians concede they are looking forward to the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, too. And that probably is the reason only two Russian defending champions—Ali Aliev and Armas Saidyadov—are here for the tournament which formally opens today.

Both are 114.5 pounders, Aliev in freestyle and Saidyadov in Greco-Roman.

The freestyle sessions will begin Thursday after opening ceremonies led by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio. All wrestlers, trainers, coaches, and officials will march into the Toledo University Field House carrying the flags of their country.

Freestyle wrestling will continue through Saturday night. Then the wrestlers take a day off and the federation officials wrestle verbally Sunday at the biennial congress.

Three days of Greco-Roman style grappling, in which holds are limited to those above the waist, will begin Monday.

ORIOLES DRAW THEIR BIGGEST CROWD OF YEAR

BALTIMORE (AP)—The ballyhooed "rematch" of fighting baseball managers didn't come off Tuesday night, but fans of the Baltimore Orioles couldn't have cared less.

Baltimore dispatched the slumping New York Yankees 3-1 in the quiet, businesslike manner usually associated with Yankee victories. It was the fifth loss in a row for New York and the fifth consecutive triumph for the surging Orioles.

The last time the two clubs met, in New York's Yankee Stadium on June 11, Baltimore Manager Billy Hitchcock and Ralph Houk, the Yankee skipper, almost came to blows.

Asked for "slice" The giant-sized rhubarb was set in motion after Oriole rookie John (Boog) Powell was beaned by a pitch from Yankee left-hander Bud Daley. When the Yankees came to bat, Baltimore pitcher Robin Roberts sent a pitch sailing over the head of Roger Maris and the shoving match began.

Baltimore fans, aroused over the possibility of a rematch, turned out in force. The crowd of 38,703 was the largest of the year in Memorial Stadium.

"I bet a lot of people were disappointed when I met Houk at home plate and didn't punch him in the nose," Hitchcock said.

"All Ralph said before the game," Hitchcock continued, "was that since he helped bring out the big crowd, he wanted a slice of the gate."

COEDS BEGIN TOURNAMENT PLAY

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Defending champion Judy Hoetner of Washington got into the act today as match play in the 18th Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament began.

The slender, bespectacled Washington girl passed up Tuesday's qualifying round to retain the No. 1 spot in the bracket reserved for the defending champion.

That left the gate open for blonde June Robinson, a 21-year-old June graduate of Oregon State, to come through with a 71 for medalist honors.

Two of the three safeties collected off James were belted by Rod Bowers including a line triple to deep right which sent Bill Coston home with the first run in the initial frame.

Dave and Dan Bream carried the big bats for the Lions as the twins each collected a trio of hits and combined for five runs. The Lions scored heavily in the first and fourth innings to put the victory on ice.

Mike Spahr and John Bowers took care of the Bream's hurling with starter Spahr receiving the loss.

FAIL AT SECOND TRY AT HIGH NUCLEAR SHOT

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States failed in its second attempt to explode a high-altitude nuclear device above Johnston Island Tuesday night.

The Thor intermediate missile used to rocket the gigantic nuclear package aloft was destroyed "due to a malfunction in the system."

Joint Task Force 8 released the following announcement: "The nuclear device was purposely destroyed without a nuclear detonation. The debris fell into the open sea well within the safety area which was previously designated."

"There was no danger to test personnel. There will be no danger to human life or hazardous levels of radioactivity in the ocean," the announcement said.

The failure was a repeat performance of the first U.S. high altitude nuclear test attempt June 4 at the Pacific island test area 750 miles southwest of Honolulu.

The first shot was aborted when the Thor missile's tracking system malfunctioned.

The official announcement on Tuesday night's shot was not specific on what went wrong.

Reds Kill Their Own Guard Trying To Balk Escape Of 5 Persons From E. Germany

By JOHN FIEHN
BERLIN (AP)—A West Berlin student led four East Germans through a tunnel to safety in the West Monday night after escaping a hail of gunfire from Red border guards who accidentally killed one of their own men.

Two other students helped the refugees scramble through the 90-foot tunnel under the Red wall dividing Berlin moments before the East German border guards sprayed the underground escape route with machinegun fire and tear gas grenades.

The Communist action thwarted the flight of nine other East Germans, and at least five of them were taken into custody.

WORKED A MONTH

The West Berlin students had dug the tunnel from the American sector of West Berlin to a house on the Communist side. The students said the work took a month, and that they arranged to use the tunnel for the first time Monday to bring out 13 East Germans, mostly women and children.

"We didn't know when we broke through whether the Vopos (East German police) would be waiting for us with tommy guns at the ready or bashed us on the skulls with their jackboots," one student said.

Two students waited at the western end of the tunnel to help haul the escapees through on a metal stretcher pulled by ropes. The third went 200 yards into Communist territory to guide the first group of escapees—two women, 26 and 22, and two boys, 11 and 5.

The guide said he was leading the group to the building when an East German guard challenged them. The student fumbled for his identification papers to distract attention from the women and children. They reached the building about the time Red guards in a nearby pillbox opened fire.

"The Vopo was hit and fell on the sidewalk," the guide said. "I ran for my life with bullets whizzing after me."

Dear Sir,

I want to write to you, as the editor of The Gettysburg Times, to express my thanks and appreciation for the fine articles which appear in your paper.

I look almost at once, when I receive it, to see if there is any article or poem which I can use in a Bible reading group which meets every evening. I usually find something worthwhile. I not only enjoy them, but so do the rest of the ladies.

This evening I used the one

YOUTH LURES WOMAN IN PLAN TO KILL HER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police say a 17-year-old youth posing as a security agent lured an Army wife to the Northeast Airport grounds Monday night and tried to kill her.

Blanche Panunto, 24, was told her husband—who was sent to Laos nine months ago—had been captured by Communists and released and was being flown to Washington, detectives said.

George Susavidge, 17, was accused of telling Mrs. Panunto he was to escort her to Washington to see her husband and that a helicopter was to meet them at a deserted part of the field to take them to Washington.

When the helicopter did not arrive and Mrs. Panunto became suspicious, police said, Susavidge hit her over the head with a 22 caliber rifle and fired several times at her as she escaped through underbrush.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Police said Susavidge told them he enlisted in the Army last January but was discharged in March after a suicide attempt.

Susavidge was identified as a former employee of a store where Mrs. Panunto worked. She said that, while working at the store, he had told her he was an Army Security agent between assignments.

Police said he approached her at the store Monday night. Near hysteria over his story, she obtained permission to leave work and went with him, unaware that a white paper package he carried concealed a rifle.

After Mrs. Panunto escaped from the airport grounds, she was taken to Nazareth Hospital by a passing truck driver. Four stitches were required to close her head wound and she also was treated for scratches.

Susavidge was picked up at 3 a.m. today by a patrolman who found him wandering near the airport.

Susavidge was charged with assault with intent to kill, aggravated assault and battery and larceny.

speaking of having the heart in things which we do.

May you continue to have such fine articles appear in The Times.

Yours sincerely,

REDS DEMAND STATE WORKER

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow newspapers published a Soviet note Tuesday demanding that the U. S. surrender an alleged war criminal, identified as Antanas Ludvikas Impulavichus of Philadelphia, Pa.

The note, delivered to the U. S. embassy Monday, says Impulavichus headed a World War II Nazi punitive battalion which shot several thousand Soviet servicemen and several thousand Jews in Lithuania.

Impulavichus told newsmen in Philadelphia that the charges were "more of the same old propaganda."

"I think America will defend me," the 55-year-old former major in the Lithuanian Army said. Impulavichus said he came to the United States in 1949 from Munich, Germany, and has lived in Philadelphia since. He works for a metal manufacturing company, is married and has two daughters, 19 and 24. He is not a U. S. citizen.

He said the charges against him were similar to ones the Russians have made against other Lithuanian officers in the past decade.

Is U.S. Treasury In Red Or Black? — It All Depends

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Treasury can be in the red or the black depending on which set of books you believe, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, points out in this, second of four self-contained articles on the debate over the federal budget.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam has his fingers in so many things today that when he closes his books on this fiscal year June 30 it will be hard to say how much he is behind. One way of figuring will put him around $7 billion in the red, another at least $0.5 billion behind, and still a third will show him fairly close to breaking even.

And to add to the confusion the federal debt — which includes everything from your U.S. Savings day for beating another, the judge remarked:

"If we had the whipping post, it might curb the growth of these unprovoked attacks by young hoodlums."

Bonds to the Treasury's short-term IOUs at the banks—will be close to $300 billion, up almost $10 billion on the year.

There are three ways of fashioning a federal budget as variously used by Congress, the Budget Bureau, or the U.S. Treasury and some government and private economists. Each served a different purpose in showing the government's impact on financial or economic affairs.

BIG STORM COMING

A big storm, however, is blowing up as to which of the three should be used—the official or administrative budget, the cash budget or the national income accounts budget. Often when one shows a deficit, another shows a surplus. This is handy in political debate. But also sheds light on what is happening to the economy.

This, greatly simplified, is how the three budgets work:

The administrative budget, set up by Congress in 1921, is the one you hear about, the one the Congress debates.

MANY FIGURES

It is proposed by a president in January and lists as expenditures sums for national defense, space research, foreign aid, agriculture, housing, commerce and transportation, health and welfare, education, veterans benefits, and interest — more than $9 billion a year in interest on the national debt.

The administrative budget also estimates receipts of individual income taxes, corporate income taxes, excise, estate and gift taxes, and customs revenue.

But the U.S. Treasury receives and pays out money for other purposes — Social Security, veterans insurance, unemployment benefits, highway and other trust funds. So it has a cash budget.

ACCURACY QUESTIONED
This shows what the Treasury actually receives from the public and pays out to the public. But of late many economists hold that even the cash budget gives less than an accurate picture. So this year, for the first time, President Kennedy offered Congress still a third summary of federal finances—the national income accounts.

This was devised by the Department of Commerce. It shows not what the Treasury has collected, but what has been put aside for tax payments. For example, what a corporation builds up to meet future tax bills—funds it can't spend in the business or commit for expansion.

MAY BE LOUD, LONG
Budget Director David E. Bell says that this fiscal year corporate tax accruals will run $3 billion higher than corporate tax receipts.

National income accounts also exclude government loans from the spending side of the ledger, holding these will be paid back and aren't like salaries — money paid out and gone forever.

These are the various types of budgets the President proposes as subjects for a serious dialogue — and the debate could be loud and long.

Thursday: Will Treasury deficits weaken our dollar or will they get the economy rolling?

The physician population of the United States and its possessions increased by about 4,500 in 1961, the American Medical Association reported today.

Medical licensure statistics for 1961, compiled by the AMA's Council on Medical Education and Hospitals, were published in the June 9 edition of the AMA Journal.

A total of 8,023 first licenses to practice medicine and surgery were issued in 1961, the report showed. Since approximately 3,500 physicians died during the year, the physician population increased by about 4,500, compared with a net gain of about 4,330 in 1960.

Of 8,714 applicants for licensure by written examination, 7,650 passed while 1,064 (12.2 per cent) failed, the report showed. However, the rate of failure in approved medical schools was 2.8 per cent. Twenty-six approved schools had no failures among their graduates.

The greatest number of graduates from any one school to be examined was 214 from the University of Tennessee College of Medicine, the report said.

Statistics also were reported on the Educational Council for Foreign Medical Graduates, founded in 1957 to certify that the foreign-trained physicians entering the United States had education equivalent to that of graduates of approved medical schools in this country.

The council, which has held eight qualification examinations for foreign medical graduates, said the "net effect" of the ECFMG certification plan has been not to restrict but rather to increase both the number and the quality of foreign medical graduates coming to the United States for graduate training in hospitals.

In 1961, more than 3,600 foreign medical graduates were qualified directly from abroad by the ECFMG, the council said. The number of foreign medical graduates taking the ECFMG examination abroad is now greater than the number taking it in the United States, the council said.

A killed virus vaccine has proved effective in preventing measles without causing fever and other symptoms of the disease associated with live measles virus vaccine, it was reported recently by the American Medical Association.

The effectiveness of the killed virus vaccine among more than 300 children given a series of three injections was estimated at up to 96 per cent. The effectiveness was determined on the basis of protection afforded against contact with actual cases of measles.

The only side effects were soreness and redness in the area of the injection which occurred in a small per cent.

There now appears to be at least two approaches to the goal of how best to prevent measles, a source of worldwide sickness among children and many adults, a Journal editorial said. Before this goal can be reached, it said, further studies of the killed vaccine are necessary to establish the duration of its protection and further studies of the live vaccine are needed to determine whether it can be modified to eliminate side effects.

David Border, W. King St., is a patient in the York City Hospital where he will undergo surgery. At the recent VFW Auxiliary meeting it was decided to keep

The killed vaccine was first shown to be worthwhile in a pilot study involving 61 children and two adults in 22 families in Syracuse, N. Y., in late 1960, according to a Journal article by Harry A. Feldman, M.D., and Alvin Novack, M.D., State University of New York, Upstate Medical Center, Syracuse, and Joel Warren, Ph.D., Charles Pfizer and Co., Inc., Terre Haute, Ind., the developer of the vaccine.

In this initial study, the vaccine — given in three doses at monthly intervals — provided protection against measles in 72 per cent, the researchers said. However, they said, a more potent lot of the vaccine currently is under investigation in a larger study with an "almost total" favorable response recorded so far.

Agent Testifies Racketeers And Unionists Lure Canadian Girls To U.S. Prostitution

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Immigration agent told Senate investigators today of Canadian girls as young as 15 years old being brought to the United States with glittering promises of night club stardom, but forced into prostitution by a crime syndicate.

Agent Glen F. Rice told the story to the Senate Investigations subcommittee. He charged it showed a conspiracy involving officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists, a woman known as Billie Brown who runs a booking agency in Montreal, and an "organized crime element."

The subcommittee is investigating allegations of connivance between racketeers and some officials of AGVA, an AFL-CIO union.

Dorothy Lamour, the movie actress, a member of the AGVA board of directors, attended the hearing today. She told reporters she was willing to testify and "clarify some of the dirt that has been slung at the union by witnesses." The subcommittee said she is not a scheduled witness and indicated there is no plan to call her.

Rice, on loan to the subcommittee, testified that in 1958 and 1959 he had uncovered "unbelievable and shocking conditions" under which young girls were plucked with whisky, beaten and threatened to force them into acts of prostitution and perversion at honky tonk strip tease and "exotic" dance night clubs in Chicago and Calumet City, Ill.

He cited case histories of two Canadian girls identified only as Miss X, 20, and Miss Y, 15, lest a record of the deceased members. Mary Baker will be in charge. A $5 donation was voted the Multiple Sclerosis. The next meeting will be June 27 at the post home. The meeting scheduled for the second Wednesday in July has been postponed because of the state convention in Philadelphia July 11-14.

The 4th annual camporee for the East Berlin and New Oxford Boy Scouts will be held at Camp Conewago over the weekend. This camporee is known as the BER-OX.

On July 8 the Boy Scouts will go to Camp Tuckahoe, Dillsburg, for a week of camping. Registration may be made with Scoutmaster Charles Petrow.

The father-son campout will be held in August at Camp Ernie, near the Pigeon Hills.

MICKEY WRIGHT EYES REPEAT IN OPEN GOLF

By FRANK ECK
The Associated Press

Mickey Wright, regarded by her touring proette companions as the Arnold Palmer of women's golf, has a chance to add even more prestige to her glittering record.

If Mary Kathryn Wright can win the coming U.S. Women's Open June 28-30 at the Dunes Golf and Beach Club in Myrtle Beach, S. C., it will be the second time within five years that the chubby-cheeked miss from La Jolla, Calif., has put together back-to-back triumphs.

Not even Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias, known as the greatest women athlete of the first half century, could repeat in the Open. However, she did win three times within six tournaments.

RAWLS WIN 4 Betsy Rawls, Mickey's persistent challenger, has taken four women's Opens but she, too, has never repeated.

Betsy, 34, from Spartanburg, S. C., might have made it two straight last year but on the last day Mickey came up with two fine rounds, a three-below par 69 and a 72, to force Miss Rawls into the runnerup spot, six strokes off her winning 293 over the 6,372-yard Baltusrol course in Springfield, N. J.

Mickey, 27, is nearing one of her goals, that of winning $100,000 in Ladies PGA tour money. She repeated in the Titleholders at Augusta this spring and is well on her way to matching the 10 tour victories she achieved in 1961 when she earned $22,236.

BEGAN AT 19

Mickey Wright was only 19 when she competed in her first Open at Peabody, Mass., in 1954. She was low amateur, finishing tied for fourth with Betsy Rawls, 17 shots back of Mrs. George Zaharias. But in seven subsequent Opens, Mickey was among the low 10 professionals five times.

The gal with the golf game to match her golden smile turned pro late in 1954 after winning George S. May's World and All-American Amateurs and finishing as runnerup to Barbara Romack, 4 and 2, in the Women's Amateur 36-hole final. Mickey has been chasing Barbara ever since.

Since 1953 when the U.S. Golf Association first conducted the Open for the fair sex, at Rochester, N. Y., Mickey has averaged more pocket money from this tournament than any other woman. She shows $6,150 for her seven trips to the starting tee as a pro.

Edward G. Robinson Needs More Rest

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Film star Edward G. Robinson must have complete rest, his doctors said Tuesday. The 68-year-old actor is allowed no visitors at Princess Elizabeth Hospital.

Robinson was stricken early Monday near Mt. Kilimanjaro in Tanganyika, where he has been making a movie. He was taken to a hospital in Arusha and was reported seriously ill.

A heart specialist flew from Nairobi to attend him, and Monday night Robinson was flown to Nairobi. His doctor said today he could not confirm a heart attack diagnosis pending a more thorough examination.

since the USGA came into the picture, has earned $6,810 in nine Opens, Betsy Rawls is next with $5,625 while Patty Berg follows with $4,765.

Patty won the first event at Spokane, Wash., when the Women's PGA ran the Open. In the first LPGA Open, Miss Suggs scored at Landover, Md., beating the late Mrs. Zaharias by 14 shots. Louise Suggs still holds the record for the 72-hole tournament, a 284 scored in 1952 at Philadelphia's Bala Golf Club.

UDALL URGES SUPPORT FOR PLANNING ACT

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall said today some opponents of the water resources planning act apparently "would rather that economic and social progress be arrested than there be an effective team of federal and state governments."

Udall, in a prepared speech to the 82nd annual conference of the American Water Works Association, said the Kennedy Administration laid down the blueprint for what's needed to assure adequate water resources now and for the future.

"But the task is not one which should be left to government alone," Udall said. "You leaders of the water industry... can do an inestimable service to yourselves and the country by assisting in the generation of a groundswell of support sufficient in scope so that it cannot be ignored."

HITS OPPOSITION

"I regret that this vital measure has not been accorded stronger support from its main beneficiaries, the state," he continued. "Certain organizations that undertake to speak for certain state governments have exerted vigorous opposition to the water resources planning act, asserting that cooperative federal-state river basin planning would constitute an infringement of state rights."

BEING WATCHED

"For example, Gov. Frank B. Morrison of Nebraska has assured President Kennedy of his endorsement of the proposed legislation. Similar support has come from other states as well."

"I am confident our nation will move ahead in river basin planning. But let me remind you that we are losing valuable time in the race against the day when water of acceptable quality will not meet the needs of a large part of

Doctor And Wife Are Found Guilty

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Federal Court jury has found a Connelville doctor and his wife guilty of evading $25,000 in income tax payments in 1956 and 1957.

Dr. William K. Newell, 51, and his wife, Caroline, 54, a nurse, were convicted Tuesday of filing the false returns.

A government attorney said the Newells declared $681 in taxes in 1956, but owed $4,500, and declared $1,290 for 1957 but owed $23,328.

Sentencing was deferred by Judge Herbert P. Sorg pending a probation office report.

SAYS CORONER SYSTEM POOR

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP)—A Pittsburgh doctor told the Blair County Medical Society Tuesday night that Pennsylvania's coroner system has many serious defects.

Dr. Ralph J. Stalter urged adoption of a medical examiner system under which each county would have a staff of physicians "appointed on the basis of professional qualifications rather than party affiliation."

He contrasted this with the present coroner system, which doesn't require a coroner to have medical training.

Stalter, chairman of the Committee on the Medical Examiner System, listed these possible consequences of the coroner system:

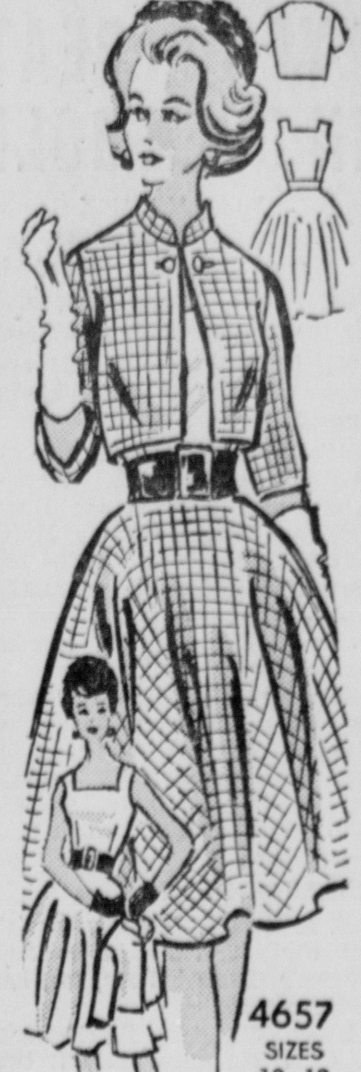

1. A coroner may fail to detect communicable diseases.
2. A coroner may overlook hidden hazards in homes or factories that can claim other victims.
3. Murders may go undetected and accidental deaths may incorrectly be ruled suicides.

our United States."

The secretary said the experience of the Delaware River Basin Commission, embracing Delaware, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania with the federal government as a partner, "will be closely watched by public administration experts, conservationists and constitutional lawyers, since it represents the first major new approach to river basin development organization since the creation of the Tennessee Valley Authority in the early 30s."

Indiana County Clerk Is Charged

INDIANA, Pa. (AP)—A 26-year-old clerk in the Indiana county treasurer's office has been charged with embezzling more than $3,100 in 1961.

Mrs. Virginia L. Walker of Marion Center was arrested Tuesday. She also was accused of fraudulent conversion, larceny, malfeasance and misfeasance in office.

An investigation of office records uncovered the embezzlement after the money was assumed stolen last July, authorities said.

Mrs. Walker was freed on $1,500 bond pending a hearing Thursday.

Leetsdale Drops Secession Action

PITTSBURGH (AP)—President Robert Mercer of Leetsdale Borough Council says council has postponed indefinitely action on a proposal to secede from Allegheny County and join Beaver County.

Mercer said council voted unanimously Monday night to drop the idea for the present.

"This is the kind of action that would take a lot of study and we haven't done it," Mercer said. "So we decided to stop for the time being."

The secession suggestion had been made by Jack Buncher, head of Buncher Industrial District, who complained of tax assessment increases.

SECOND JURY VISITS SCENE

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—Testimony continues today in Butler County Court in the second murder trial of Donald Montgomery, 19, of Brackenridge.

The seven men and five women on the jury visited the death scene in nearby Cabot Tuesday and also heard four witnesses testify.

Montgomery is accused of killing Mrs. Pauline Ritter, 69, by setting fire to her home last January after robbing her and her husband.

Detective Sgt. James D. Barger testified Tuesday Montgomery admitted piling dresser drawers on top of papers in the cellarway of the home before the fire was started.

Montgomery was first tried last month but Judge Clyde S. Shumaker declared a mistrial on grounds that the prosecutor used prejudicial remarks in his summation.

Charles Ganss Jr., 17, of Cabot was convicted in the case earlier and sentenced to death in the electric chair.

Recover Body In Bay After 10 Days

CAPE MAY, N.J. (AP) — The body of a Pennsylvanian who drowned in Delaware Bay June 10 has been recovered after it was sighted by crewmen of the submarine USS Tench, as the sub entered the bay.

The body of Charles W. Lawrence, 50, of Route 1, Elverson, Pa., was recovered Tuesday by a Coast Guard patrol boat after the submarine notified the Coast Guard station here.

Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller of Pottstown, Pa., were thrown into the bay when their motorboat capsized Sunday, June 10. Miller, 35, and his wife, 30, used life jackets to stay afloat and were rescued about four hours after the accident.

NEWS SHOWS HIGHLIGHTS OF YEAR'S TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1961-62 television season has, for the most part, come to a quiet end. As the re-runs crowd the home screens, there will be few mourners at its passing.

For a second year in a row, it has been a period rarely sparked by creativity—a period dominated by formula writing and production-line entertainment containing very little that was fresh or novel.

The high points of the season, curiously enough, were the news shows — the cameras on the launching of manned rockets into space, a tour of the White House, an investigation of the operation of a book-making establishment.

MORE DOWNS THAN UPS

It was a time when the industry — really nervous about strong criticism by Congressional subcommittees, the Federal Communications Commission and articulate critics — seriously attempted to curb scenes of violence.

It was a time when there were few original dramas, and most of those were second-rate and seemed to have been scripts found at the back of an author's desk drawer. The most interesting dramas were adaptations of Broadway successes or novels.

The networks did a lot of bragging about their news and public affairs shows but continued to schedule most of them on the outside fringes of valuable prime evening time.

The public, in survey after survey, showed marked preference for pure entertainment—the Westerns, the doctors, the comedians. It has been, in short, period with many more downs than ups.

Maybe—just maybe—things will pick up next year.

CHASED VIEWERS

"Noah and the Flood," CBS' expensive excursion into culture last week, may have improved the corporate images of the network and the shampoo company that sponsored it, but it apparently didn't impress the public much.

A sampling of the New York area by one research outfit indicated that every other competing network show had a larger audience than the dance-drama—and NBC's "Dr. Kildare" and "Hazel" had twice as many viewers.

Recommended tonight: "The First Day," CBS, 10-11 (EDT)—original television play starring Margaret Leighton, Ralph Bellamy and Mildred Dunnock.

Dreibels of Harrisburg, secretary; and Kenneth M. Daugherty of Finleyville, Washington County, representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge. The conference ends today.

TOO MUCH THIEVERY

POZNAN, Poland (AP)—Police roadblocks have been thrown up around this central Polish city to stop car thievery at the Poznan International Trade Fair. Fifteen cars have been stolen since the opening of the fair 10 days ago brought an invasion of automobiles from throughout Europe.

The victims include the director of the fair, Adam Askanas.

A Lovelier You

COOL CUTS TO HOT WORK. In the heat of summer a homemaker is caught in a dilemma. Should she keep her home fresh and inviting at the expense of her energy? Or should she cut corners and save the energy that saves her own sparkle?

Time-motion experts say that she can have it both ways. The trick turns on the simplification of chores, and these are some of the ways:

- Cut "lugging" to a minimum. Let a serving cart, or even a child's wagon, do the lugging for you. It will tote stacks of linens and dishes to and from areas where they are used, sudsed and stored. A cart is handy, too, for rolling cleaning supplies from room to room. Where there are stairs to climb, a large basket is the step saver.

- Cut cleaning time via speed-up tools. For example, do your dusting with a fluffy mop head. It covers many times the surface of a dustcloth and, because of its stringy texture, gets more efficiently into crevices.

- Cut into the drudgery of laundering chores. Wash a load in the cool of each morning, rather than waiting until you have a staggering accumulation. While ironing, sit on a chair adjusted to the height of your board. Or if you must stand, try a sponge rubber mat under your feet. Of course, by sticking with drip-dry fabrics, you could skirt the ironing job, or nearly so. Most drip-dries come out pre-ironed, particularly if you finger-press them while sopping wet.

Using these tips as starters, you'll find dozens of ways to achieve that ideal combination—a refreshing home and a refreshed you!

PENNA. CITED FOR PROGRESS ON "SAFETY"

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania has been cited by the president of the National Safety Council for "enormous progress in accident prevention."

Howard Pyle, a former Arizona governor who now heads the council also praised Gov. Lawrence for "outstanding leadership in the field of traffic safety."

Pyle made the remarks Tuesday in presenting Lawrence with two safety awards at the third annual Governor's Traffic Safety Conference.

The awards were for Pennsylvania's low highway death rate in 1961 and for its school driver education program.

Pyle told the conferees that the death rate on U.S. highways had dropped 30 per cent in the past 10 years, despite a 98 per cent increase in accident exposure.

Despite the progress, Pyle added, there are still two major areas that need improvement—vehicle inspection and driver training.

"Some 38 states have adopted uniform vehicle codes, but while driver training is up two and one-half times, it still touches less than 40 per cent of the national potential," he said.

He estimated only about 70 per cent of the basic requirements deemed necessary to reduce the accident rate have been adopted by the states.

Another speaker was John O. Moore, director of research and development for the American Safety Equipment Corp. of New York.

"Auto seat belts," he said, "are the best possible answer we have today to cutting down on injuries caused by automobile accidents. Seat belts can reduce up to 60 per cent of the injuries that now afflict four and a half million in auto accidents each year."

Many Organizations, Town Citizens, Surgeons Helped To Care For Union And Confederate Wounded Here In '63

The following is the complete text of the address given by J. Melchoir Sheads, head of the history department at Gettysburg High School, on the occasion of the presentation of a 34-star flag to the Warner Hospital by the Adams County Civil War Centennial Commission on June 14. The subject of his talk was "The Care of the Wounded After the Battle of Gettysburg July to November 1863."

It is most fitting that a Civil War flag should be presented to the Annie M. Warner Hospital as a part of Adams County's Centennial observance of the Civil War since the mother of a former physician, the late Dr. Henry Stewart, who himself was associated with this excellent institution from the early days of its founding until his death, was in a sense a local Clara Barton in her tender care of the wounded after the Battle of Gettysburg.

If ever a community needed a hospital desperately, it was the little community of 2,400 inhabitants called Gettysburg after the most decisive battle of the Civil War had been fought here on 1, 2, 3 July 1863. In fact the entire community of Gettysburg and vicinity became one vast hospital, with all public buildings occupied and most of the private homes given over to the care of the wounded and dying.

The Battle of Gettysburg was the most momentous battle of the Civil War, not only in the strategic and national issues involved, but in its fearful destruction of human life. In all, almost 6,000 men were killed outright and over 27,000 were wounded.

CARE FOR WOUNDED

After the withdrawal of the armies, a stupendous task confronted the surgeons in caring for the wounded left behind. On account of the shifting scenes of the battle, some of the wounded could not be removed until the night of the third day, and a few were not reached until the morning of the fourth. The suffering of many of the wounded under a broiling July sun was intense. Without water, some died of thirst. As soon as possible the litter-bearers carried the living to the rear, where they were loaded into the ambulances and taken to the corps field hospitals of the Union army established along Hospital Rd. between the Baltimore Pike and the Taneytown Rd. in near of the Union battle position on Cemetery Ridge.

The first temporary hospital at Gettysburg was established by Buford's cavalry division in the Presbyterian Church, corner of E. High St. and Baltimore St. "Old Dorm" at the Lutheran Theological Seminary was used for a hospital for a longer period of time than any other public building in Gettysburg. Immediately after the retreat of the Confederate army more than 400 Confederate wounded were counted in "Old Dorm" and in tents on the campus of the seminary. In addition, there were over 200 Union soldiers. Lying side by side, helpless as children, the wounded at Seminary "Old Dorm" received for eight weeks the ministrations of surgeons, nurses, agents of the Sanitary and Christian Commissions, Sisters of Charity, Patriotic Daughters of Lancaster, and citizens of Gettysburg. Among the Confederate wounded at Seminary "Old Dorm" were Major General Isaac Trimble and Brigadier General James Kemper, both distinguished officers in Lee's army.

USED OLD DORM

The main building of Gettysburg College, now familiarly known as college "Old Dorm," sheltered mainly Union soldiers who were brought in from the position of Union 11th Corps north of the town. Its large halls and many rooms afforded accommodations for about 400 men. From 4:30 on Wednesday afternoon, 1 July 1863, until the night of Friday, 3 July 1863, the town of Gettysburg was occupied by the Confederate army, and facilities for helping the wounded were limited. Food was scarce, and there was suffering not only among the wounded but also among the citizens of the town. Notwithstanding the many dangers and hindrances, a number of brave Gettysburg women did all that was humanly possible to bring relief to the patients at the college. After the retreat of the Confederate army, conditions at the hospital in college "Old Dorm" improved. Many supplies were sent in by the government and by the Sanitary and Christian Commissions. Confederate wounded who were held as prisoners of war were either paroled or sent to prison camps as soon as they had recovered enough to be moved. The Union wounded, when able, were transferred to the Army General Hospital east of Gettysburg along the York pike. By the end of July all the college buildings at "Old Dorm" were gone, and the work of cleaning and preparing it for the return of the students for the fall term was begun.

J. MELCHOIR SHEADS

CONVERT COLLEGE CHURCH

The first church used for the care of the Infantry wounded was Christ Lutheran on Chambersburg St., commonly known as the College Church. Like the seminary and college buildings, this church was near the scene of the first day's battle.

At St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, on W. High St., many wounded were tenderly cared for, the greater number from the scene of the second and third days' battles. On Sunday morning after the battle, 12 Sisters of Charity from St. Joseph Convent at Emmitsburg, Md., arrived, bringing with them bandages, sponges, refreshments and clothing. As they approached they passed over a large part of the battlefield, and horrifying sights prepared them for their work. They directed the nursing in the town hospitals, and the Gettysburg ladies already at work gave the most cheerful obedience, grateful for their skill and experience.

Four other town churches, St. James Lutheran on York St., Trinity Reformed on S. Stratton St., Old Methodist Church (now Post No. 9, GAR) on E. Middle St., United Presbyterian Church on W. High St., were used as hospitals and within their walls occurred scores of amputations of limbs. In addition, two comparatively new buildings in Gettysburg, the public school on E. High St. and the courthouse on Baltimore St., both completed in the late 1850's, were used as hospitals. The Adams County Almshouse buildings on Harrisburg Rd. were utilized early in the Battle of Gettysburg.

8 FIELD HOSPITALS

In addition to the hospitals set up in the town of Gettysburg, the Union army established eight corps field hospitals during the battle, convenient to the positions of the various corps.

The First Corps hospital was located on the Baltimore pike in the White Run Church.

The Second Corps hospital was located along Hospital Rd. near the George Bushman farm.

The Third Corps hospital was located at the confluence of White Run and Rock Creek.

The Fifth Corps hospital was first located at the J. Weikert house on the Taneytown Rd. east of Little Round Top and on the morning of July 3 was moved to the M. Fissel farm east of Rock Creek. It was to the Fifth Corps hospital at the J. Weikert house that Brigadier General Stephen Weed, Colonel Patrick O'Rourke, and Lieutenant Charles Hazlett were taken after being mortally wounded in the struggle at Little Round Top.

The Sixth Corps hospital was also along Hospital Rd. at the John Trostle farm.

ARMISTEAD DIES

The 11th Corps hospital was along the same road at the George Spangler farm. The Confederate Brigadier General Lewis A. Armistead, mortally wounded in the repulse of Pickett's Charge at the angle, died at this hospital.

The 12th Corps hospital also along the same road was at the George Bushman farm.

The Union Corps field hospitals were discontinued about the first of August, 1863, and the Army General Hospital, named Camp Letterman in honor of Surgeon Jonathan Letterman, medical director of the Army of the Potomac, was established in a woods about two miles east of Gettysburg on the York pike.

After the Battle of Gettysburg, there were 14,529 Union and about 6,800 Confederate wounded soldiers in the various Union corps field hospitals near Gettysburg. At the General Army Hospital the total, by July 22, had decreased to 1,955 wounded Union soldiers and 2,922 wounded Confederate soldiers.

The Confederate army established nine division hospitals generally along the roads north and west of Gettysburg. For instance, Pickett's division hospital was located at the old Bream mill on Marsh Creek and McLaw's division hospital was located at Black Horse Tavern on the Fairfield Rd.

MISERY AND HORROR

In August, 1907, 44 years after the Battle of Gettysburg, a very interesting hearing took place in the Adams County Courthouse. The hearing and testimony was taken in the matter to go before the United States court of claims for damages done to the local churches in being used as hospitals during and after the Battle of Gettysburg. Old parishioners who remembered the Battle of Gettysburg and the damages done to the churches by their use as hospitals were called upon to testify under oath as to the extent of the damages. From their testimony we get a true picture of the misery and the horror that took place inside these churches. The Trinity Reformed Church claim brought out the fact that the lecture room and the room upstairs were filled with wounded, benches were covered with blood, and on the first floor holes were bored in the floor to allow blood to drain through. The pews were covered with boards on which the wounded were placed. The walls were splattered with blood and the carpets were used for any purposes to which they could be adapted. The testimony of members of the other denominations was much the same, attesting to the severe damage done to all the churches used as hospitals during and after the Battle of Gettysburg.

STEWART DIARY

Probably the best description of conditions in the hospitals established in the various churches of Gettysburg comes from the diary of Mrs. Elizabeth Salome Myers-Stewart, the mother of the late Dr. Henry Stewart. If ever there was a counterpart of Clara Barton, Sally Myers would fit that description here at Gettysburg during and after the battle. She was one of many young Gettysburg girls who willingly and tirelessly cared for the wounded after the Battle of Gettysburg. At the time of the battle she was second assistant to the principal of the public schools of Gettysburg, and some of her experiences in those memorable days are most interesting and romantic. She came from patriotic stock, her father, her only brother, five uncles, and eight first cousins serving in the Union army during the Civil War. From June 30, when she and other Gettysburg girls sang to encourage Buford's Union cavalry upon their arrival in the streets of Gettysburg, until August 12, Sallie Myers worked incessantly in behalf of the sick and wounded soldiers. Her home on W. High St. gave shelter to many who had received serious wounds. Years later the National Association of Army Nurses elected her their treasurer in recognition of her untiring work in behalf of the sick and wounded at the Battle of Gettysburg, a unique distinction in that organization since she was the only member who did not serve as an enlisted nurse during the Civil War.

BUSY STREET

In her diary she speaks of no part of Gettysburg being busier than E. High St. and the first block of W. High St. during and after the battle. The Reformed Church and the public school building next to it were filled with wounded men. The school house needed so much repairing that the opening of school was delayed far beyond the usual time. On W. High St., the United Presbyterian Church, which stood where the United Brethren Church now stands and the Roman Catholic Church, opposite, were thrown open and filled to their utmost capacity. The United Presbyterian Church stood some distance from the street, and between it and the fence enclosing the grounds, two long trenches were dug, and the dead, wrapped in blankets, were buried as close together as they could be laid. Before these trenches were filled up with ground, rain fell and it was necessary to lay heavy boards over the bodies to keep them down and in place.

But her experiences led to romance and, in writing of this period, Mrs. Sallie Myers Stewart says:

"I went to the church, where men were lying in the pews and on the floors. I knelt by the first one inside the door and said: 'What can I do for you?' He replied: 'Nothing. I am going to die.'"

"To be thus met by the first one addressed was more than my nerves could stand and I went hastily out, sat down on the church steps and cried."

"In a little while I re-entered the hospital and spoke again to the dying man. He was Sergeant Alexander Stewart of the 149th Pennsylvania Volunteers. He spoke of his home, his aged father and mother, of his wife and younger and only brother, the Union."

LYING IN PEWS

"I went to the church, where men were lying in the pews and on the floors. I knelt by the first one inside the door and said: 'What can I do for you?' He replied: 'Nothing. I am going to die.'"

"To be thus met by the first one addressed was more than my nerves could stand and I went hastily out, sat down on the church steps and cried."

Foreign Policies Up For Review

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walt Rostow probably will face sharp congressional questioning when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee examines a new survey of U.S. foreign policies.

Rostow heads the State Department's Policy Planning Council which has sent its foreign policy paper to the White House.

The document was under GOP attack even before its completion was announced Tuesday by State Department press officer Lincoln White. He tried to discount speculation about spectacular new ideas in the paper—especially any radical change in U.S. nuclear policy—and said Rostow would be glad to appear on Capitol Hill for a full and frank discussion of the survey.

RUSK MEETS NATO LEADERS

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk meets today with North Atlantic Treaty Organization leaders after an "animated, friendly and searching" talk with President Charles de Gaulle that ranged over French-American differences.

Rusk, here to discuss nuclear tactics for the Atlantic Alliance and other Western issues, was to confer with the permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, then have lunch with NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Sukker.

U.S. opposition to De Gaulle's plan to give his armies their own atomic arsenal was one of the main points discussed by Rusk and the French president for an hour and a quarter Tuesday in the Elysee Palace.

Rusk told De Gaulle in effect that creation of an independent French nuclear striking force would be dangerous and ineffective as a deterrent against Communist attack. He reportedly made no offer to share nuclear secrets that only Britain now gets from the United States.

De Gaulle listened pleasantly, but apparently remained adamant in his determination to concentrate French energies and resources on development of France's own nuclear force.

LITTLE BROTHER

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Joe Breck is one guy who is really playing basketball in the shadow of an older brother.

Joe, a high school junior, is a guard for the Catalina Trojans. Several years back, big brother Dan, now a University of Arizona Wildcat, was a center for the Trojans.

Dan is 6-feet-5. Little brother Joe is 5-feet-8.

who had been severely wounded and was then at home, and asked me to take their addresses and send them his dying messages.

"He lingered until Monday, July 6, and was buried in the graveyard of the United Presbyterian Church, in which his father had been baptized 63 years before."

ROMANTIC SEQUEL

As an interesting and romantic sequel to this tragic occurrence, it should be pointed out that the following summer the widow and younger brother of Alexander Stewart visited Sally Myers, and the acquaintance then made resulted in her marriage in 1867 to the younger brother, Henry F. Stewart. He became a minister in the United Presbyterian Church, and he and his bride, Sally Myers, settled in Jamestown, Mercer County, Pennsylvania, where he was pastor of the Presbyterian Church. To this union was born an only son, Henry Stewart. Upon the untimely death of her husband, Sally Myers Stewart and her young son returned to Gettysburg, her native town. She resumed her teaching career and by this means provided for her son's education in private school, college and medical school. Dr. Henry Stewart grew up in Gettysburg, and after graduation from medical school returned to Gettysburg and established his practice here. As all of you know, he was for many years associated with the Annie M. Warner Hospital.

At the time of his death he was undoubtedly the best informed local historian in this community. In loving memory of his father and his uncle, he was especially solicitous of all veterans' graves in Adams County and for many years made it a point of pride to see that every veteran's grave in this county was properly identified with American flag and flowers on Memorial Day.

In conclusion, the citizens of Gettysburg and Adams County during that terrible summer of 1863 performed a magnificent job in caring for the sick and wounded. Those among you who are descendants of those patriotic citizens of this community and vicinity can be justly proud of your ancestors. They were confronted with a terrible crisis and they overcame insurmountable obstacles to meet it head on.

In analyzing the powerful slogan of this community—the Union was born at Philadelphia, but it was preserved at Gettysburg—the untiring efforts of the "home front" of Gettysburgians and Adams Countyans in those hectic days of 1863 played a major role in helping to preserve the Union.

HANGOVERS MAY AFFECT HEART RATE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Medical scientists report on hangovers, sleep, and a suspect in causing congenital heart defects:

HANGOVER EFFECTS

Hangovers after drinking may be hard on the heart, Finnish researchers, at least, say they found a speedier than normal heart rate in 30 healthy firemen either at rest or at work, after a night of drinking.

In part of the studies, they put the firemen through standard physical tests the morning after, when they had hangovers. Fourteen of the men performed as well as they usually did, two did better, and 12 were under par in physical performance.

SLEEPY BRAIN

During sleep, the human brain shows complex patterns of electrical activity and responses to stimuli. The electrical readings are quite different from those during wakefulness.

In one test, University of Michigan researchers analyzed reactions to a flash of light, and found the brain responded differently at the outset than later on during sleep. By then, the person perhaps had become accustomed to the flash, said Drs. Kenneth A. Kooi and Basu K. Bagchi.

HEART EFFECTS

Medical researchers have discovered a substance, in the bloodstream, which causes heart defects in the embryo or unborn chick.

Perhaps it is a cause of some congenital heart defects in human babies. They are trying to learn if this substance is present in the blood of pregnant women who have had previous children with heart defects. If they find such an anti-heart serum, and if the babies being carried then have heart defects, it might be possible to find a chemical which counteracts the blood substance.

The studies are described by Richard L. Licata, Ph.D., Maurice Lev, M.D., and Eric R. Brown, Ph.D., of Northwestern University and the Hektoen Institute of Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

Pasternak's Friend Released By Reds

MOSCOW (AP)—The daughter of Olga Ivanskaya, friend and associate of the late Boris Pasternak, has been released from a labor camp after serving half of her three-year sentence. Culture Minister Ekaterina Furtseva announced Monday night.

The mother, who got eight years, is still being held. Both were sentenced in December 1960, charged with smuggling in Western royalties on Pasternak's controversial book "Dr. Zhivago."

Algeria will again be reduced to chaos," Susini warned in a private radio broadcast.

The nationalist regime in Tunis has shown no inclination to endorse Mostefai's vaguely worded promise to enlist Europeans in local security forces and his pledge of amnesty for European terrorists "as soon as conditions of sovereignty permit."

The Susini-Mostefai agreement also has won only limited support from secret army elements. Terrorism ceased in the Algiers area but secret army commanders elsewhere in Algeria disavowed the pact.

WOUND 18 SOLDIERS

European terrorists fired 10 mortar shells into a Moslem quarter of Oran Tuesday, wounding 18 French soldiers. Europeans continued to regroup in five west Algerian towns around Oran for a last ditch stand against the Moslem takeover after the July 1 independence referendum.

Despite the renewed terrorism in western Algeria, Susini asserted in his radio broadcast that the secret army had kept its pledge to halt the fight. He demanded that the Moslems within the next two days live up to Mostefai's promise to incorporate Europeans in the local police force the provisional executive has been raising.

Unless the Moslems take concrete measures, the 28-year-old former medical student declared, the secret army will not be responsible for the continuing exodus of Europeans and the creation of European defensive strong points in west Algeria.

The two days of quiet in Algiers did little to halt the exodus of thousands of Europeans certain that the secret army and the nationalists could not establish a lasting truce. Ignoring appeals from the secret army and labor union leaders, 67 plane loads of refugees left for France Tuesday.

SLAYER FACES PSYCHIATRIC EXAMINATIONS

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (AP) — LeRoy A. Harrison, 41-year-old Trenton printer charged with the murder of student-actress Phyllis Ann Jones, faces psychiatric examination this week.

He also faces questioning by authorities from three New Jersey communities about the unsolved murders of three women—two in the summer of 1952, the other in 1960.

Harrison's lawyer, Kenneth J. Dawes of Trenton, said Dr. James B. Spradley, former head of Trenton State Hospital, and Dr. Robert Garner, also of Trenton, have been retained to examine his client.

SAME ATTORNEY

Dawes is the same attorney who represented Harrison when he pleaded guilty to raping a young model in 1949.

The slender, dark-haired Harrison served time on the 1949 rape offense after spending more than a year in state hospitals at Trenton and Marlboro.

Dr. Harrison S. Magee, medical director of Trenton State Hospital, said Harrison was found to have no psychosis during his stay at the hospital in 1950 and 1951. He said Harrison was found to have abnormal sex tendencies but was not mentally ill then.

HEARING SCHEDULED

Harrison is scheduled to have a preliminary hearing Friday night in Lacey Township Municipal Court, if the Ocean County grand jury doesn't indict him first.

Magistrate William E. O'Connor said he plans to hold the hearing to determine whether the state's evidence is sufficient to hold Harrison for grand jury action.

Harrison has been held without bail since Sunday in the Ocean

CHARGED SATURDAY

He was arrested last Saturday night and charged with the slaying of the 24-year-old Miss Jones whose body, clad in a bathing suit, was found June 10 in a gravel pit off Route 539 near Whiting.

Police said Harrison admitted the slaying after three hours of questioning.

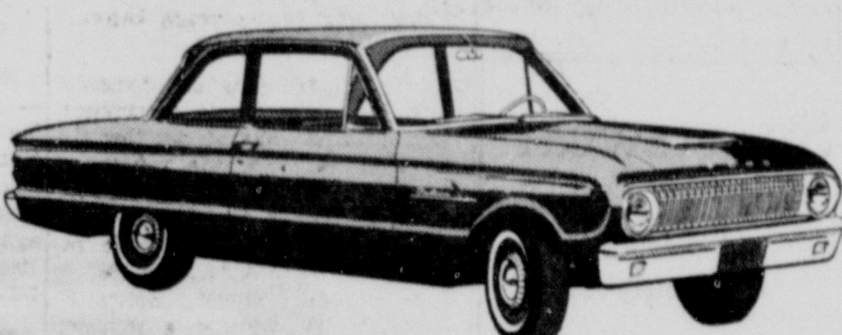

Authorities in Atlantic City, Ewing Township and Middletown Township seek to question Harrison about the unsolved 1952 and 1960 murders.

The women in each instance, had not been sexually assaulted. Autopsy reports indicated that Miss Jones, too, had not been sexually assaulted.

Northern Light Is First In Boat Race

ST. GEORGE, Bermuda (AP)—Finishers relaxed today as they waited returns from the rest of a 131-boat fleet that sailed from Newport, R.I., Saturday in the Newport-Bermuda yacht race.

Northern Light, a big blue ketch, from Oyster Bay, N.Y., won first-to-finish honors Tuesday as she tacked across the line at St. David's Head 3 days, 8 hours, 50 minutes after leaving Brenton Reef lightship 635 miles away.

South Africa's blue ketch Stormvogel finished 1 hour, 10 minutes later with the veteran white schooner Nina 5 minutes astern. This is a handicap race and just what the corrected time winner will be was an unknown factor since the rest of the fleet is scattered over the Atlantic Ocean for 155 miles, north-northwest of this island.

HEALTH CARE BILL HELD UP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans threatened an all-out fight today against any administration effort to force a Senate vote on President Kennedy's plan for health care for the elderly.

The Kennedy bill, which calls for Social Security financing of hospital and nursing home benefits, remains stalled in the House Ways and Means Committee despite indications that the President is willing to compromise on some of its features.

If this situation doesn't change, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said he will offer the proposal as a rider on some House-passed revenue measure.

Since the House must originate such legislation, it would be unlikely to accept such a Senate amendment.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview that if the Democrats try such a maneuver they will find they have a fight on their hands.

Asked if Republican talk might delay a possible mid-September adjournment of Congress, Dirksen shrugged. He said that would depend somewhat on when the Democrats chose to make their move.

Report Shipbuilding Firm Up For Sale

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy Department plans to investigate a report that the New York Shipbuilding Corp. in Camden, N.J., is up for sale.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said Tuesday that the report, "from a most reliable source," was that the Camden firm had approached Bethlehem Steel Co. with a proposal that Bethlehem buy it out.

Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth assured McCormack he would investigate.

McCormack told Korth of the rumored sale during a meeting of the Navy secretary with the Massachusetts congressional delegation concerning bids to construct a nuclear powered guided missile frigate.

Keane Angered By Drysdale's Conduct

LOS ANGELES (AP)—St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane, angered on two counts by the conduct of Don Drysdale, accuses the controversial Dodger pitcher of dirty play and promises:

"We'll retaliate any time we can."

Drysdale—who slid hard into second baseman Julian Javier Tuesday night and later brushed him back with a pitch—responded:

"If Keane wants to retaliate, I'll be around all season."

Drysdale, who seems to become involved in at least one major controversy a season, picked up his 11th victory as the league-leading Dodgers beat the Cards for the second straight time, 3-2.

ESCAPEES WERE BEST PREPARED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Evidence mounted Tuesday that the three bank robbers who broke out of Alcatraz last week were probably the best prepared of the 38 men who have tried to escape "The Rock."

A high federal prison official in Washington, Fred T. Wilkinson, confirmed that the three convicts had set up a secret workshop in a ventilator shaft in back of and above their cell block.

Wilkinson said the men may have had access to this workshop for possibly a year. Found in the workshop were an electric fan that had been converted into a drill, a crowbar and other equipment. The escapees, Frank Lee Morris, 35; John Anglin, 32, and Clarence Anglin, 31, used spoons to chisel out ventilator shaft covers in their cells. They made dummy covers for the holes and apparently moved in and out at will.

CHUCK SEEDS IN WIMBLEDON

LONDON (AP)—Chuck McKinley is the lone United States player seeded in the men's division of the Wimbledon championships which open next Monday.

Whitney Reed, America's top-ranked player, was ignored by the seeding committee which issued its lists Tuesday.

McKinley, rated No. 2 behind Reed in the United States, was given the No. 5 spot.

Defending champion Rod Laver, was No. 1 followed by his Australian Davis Cup teammates, Roy Emerson and Neale Fraser. Then came Ramanathan Krishnan of India and McKinley. Miguel Santana of Spain was No. 6, Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy No. 7 and Bob Hewitt of Australia No. 8.

Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., the No. 1 woman player in the United States, was seeded No. 2 behind Margaret Smith, 19-year-old Australian. Then came, in order, Maria Esther Bueno of Brazil, Rene Schuurman of South Africa, Ann Haydon of Britain,

LOCKPORT, ILL. H.S. BAND NEW U.S. CHAMPIONS

By CHUCK CAPALDO

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP)—The Lockport, Ill., High School band, whose veteran director stresses musicianship, not showmanship, began a whirlwind 10-day tour today as national high school marching band champion.

Director Ernest Caneva's 103-member band won the contest Tuesday night over 27 over bands from all parts of the United States without so much as one scantily clad majorette.

The contest was held in conjunction with the 24th annual North Iowa Band Festival and the press premiere of Warner Bros.' screen presentation of Meredith Willson's "The Music Man."

GIGANTIC PARADE

More than 100,000 persons turned out for the all-day spectacle, which included a gigantic parade of 119 bands, 43 floats, 84 beauty queens and stars of Hollywood and Broadway.

It was the biggest parade of bands in the city's 109-year history.

A crowd of about 15,000 was on hand for the awards presentations at Roosevelt Field and to see the celebrities.

Willson, a native of Mason City and extremely popular in his hometown, was made an honorary colonel by Gov. Norman Erbe. Robert Preston, star of the Broadway and Hollywood versions of "The Music Man," drew a laugh when he said, "Meredith and I always shake hands when we meet, or even kiss, but now he's a colonel and I will have to salute him."

Besides the tour to help promote the movie, the Lockport band won $10,719 worth of musical instruments. That's more than twice what civic organizations raised to send the band here for the competition.

Caneva, 54, who has seen his band win many honors in his 30 years as supervisor of music in Lockport, said his is principally a music organization.

"I am not opposed to showmanship," he said, "but the music does suffer if there is too much of it."

In contrast to most of the other bands displaying their wares, Lockport's uniforms bordered on the severe. Skirts were long and stockings black. The band has a color guard but no majorettes.

The judges awarded second place and a $1,940 electronic organ to Bossier City, La. Then came Lebanon, Pa.; Plainview, Tex., and Montgomery, Ala.

The judges do not announce results after fifth place.

Angela Mortimer of Britain, Leslie Turner of Australia, and Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista, Calif.

Tall Christine Truman, who lost the final last year to Miss Mortimer, was left off the list.

Use Five Hurlers In Ninth Inning

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies have tied a major league record by using five pitchers in one inning but they'd rather forget it today. And they'd also like to forget the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs pushed across six runs in the ninth inning on six hits and a walk Tuesday night to overcome a two-run deficit and beat the Phillies 9-5. The barrage included doubles by Ron Santo, Bob Will and Ken Hubbs and a triple by Andre Rodgers. All five pitchers were scored on except rookie Paul Brown. Chris Short (3-4) was charged with the loss.

It was the Cubs' fifth straight win, their longest victory streak of the year. It also marked the Cubs' seventh victory in nine games with the Phillies.

Dave Gerard, third Chicago pitcher, was credited with his second victory against no losses.

PRESTIGE FUSS IS HOLDING UP AGENTS' PAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prestige of the House and Senate fly like battle flags over a clash that has thrust into the light a shadowy dispute over status and has tied up pay checks of Secret Service agents.

Caught in the middle are some money bills, including a $500-million supplemental appropriations bill to tide over government agencies which ran out of money until the new fiscal year begins in July.

Because of the feud some of the bills have been hanging fire for two months.

The Secret Service, which guards the President, was the first to feel the pinch. Its 766 agents and clerks won't receive their pay this week and are working on the cuff.

NO COMPROMISE

This is the situation: When the Senate and House appropriations groups meet to iron out differences in bills, the meeting has always had a senator for chairman. The House committee wants to change that and rotate the chairmanship.

The senators have come up with a counter proposal—if they agree to rotate the chairmanship, then the House members must agree to let the Senate originate half of the money bills. The House starts them all now as it has for years and years.

Neither side has accepted the other's demands. Neither has shown any signs of wishing to compromise. Each has accused the other of being stubborn and unreasonable.

BECK GOES TO PRISON TODAY FOR FIVE YEARS

SEATTLE (AP)—Dave Beck, 68-year-old president of the former Teamsters' Union, goes to federal prison today, but he says he does not have to stay down just because he was knocked down.

Beck, wealthy Seattle businessman, was expected at the U.S. marshal's office in Tacoma. From there he was to take the short boat trip to McNeil Island federal penitentiary, in Puget Sound.

On the eve of his five-year term for filing fraudulent tax returns, he told a reporter: "You don't have to fall down just because you've been knocked down. What matters is, 'Do you get up again?'"

His arrival at McNeil Island will mark the close of five years of legal maneuvers to stay free. Beck was convicted on two charges which played a minor part in his tax evasion trial in 1958-59.

DENIES KNOWLEDGE

The charges were filing fraudulent tax returns for the union's Joint Council 28 Building Association in Seattle. Beck swears he never saw the returns, but the courts said he should have known what they contained. They were information returns involving no tax payments.

Government charges that he evaded paying $240,000 in taxes for the years 1950-53 were dismissed, but a few days ago the U.S. Supreme Court upheld his conviction on the false union returns. That meant Beck, a one-time laundry truck driver who became one of the most powerful labor figures in the nation, had two concurrent five-year sentences to serve and a fine of $20,000 to pay.

A grand larceny conviction and 15-year sentence in state courts also hangs over his head for pocketing $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned Cadillac. The U.S. Supreme Court upheld the conviction last month. A petition for a rehearing is pending.

Why are the wheels crooked?

A split rear axle. The rear wheels are individually suspended, to adjust to the shape of the road. (Most European racers have this, but few passenger cars.) Take the opposite: the rigid rear axle. What if your car hits a rut hole?

Clunk. Seasoned drivers wait for this thump.

In a Volkswagen, it never comes. "I've been tooling around in my Volks for 3 years," says one commuter, "and I'm still surprised when the jolt doesn't come."

Volkswagens also have torsion bar suspension. (Not many passenger cars have this, either.) Ordinary springs can "hit bottom." V.W. torsion springs twist. The more they twist, the more spring they develop. This cradles the car. You get a sure-footed ride over rough terrain.

Crooked wheels?

That's what keeps the Volkswagen on the level.

ORDER SPELLS OUT STEPS ON NEW ORDERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's latest executive order—hot off the White House mimeograph—spells out a dozen easy-to-take steps for getting an executive order to the President's desk.

The White House produced the new order Tuesday, the last sent to Kennedy under a 14-year-old order on orders.

From now on, when a government agency wants the President to issue an executive order or a proclamation, the outfit's boss must supply a letter explaining and justifying the request.

POINTS TO WATCH

This has been the practice, the White House said. The new order simply makes it formal.

A few things to watch in whipping up a proposed executive order:

—Spelling and punctuation. Under provisions of the order the style has to conform to the Government Printing Office manual.

—The title. A proposed order or proclamation has to have a suitable one.

—Geographic names. They must be spelled in line with the decisions of the Board on Geographic Names.

SEVEN COPIES

—The paper it's on. "Proposed executive orders and proclamations shall be typewritten on paper approximately 8 x 13 inches, shall have a left-hand margin of

Letter To The Editor

June 18, 1962

Dear Mr. Editor
Gettysburg Times

It was with great interest and appreciation that I read the article by Mrs. Donald Hollabaugh concerning the matter of devotions in our schools. Several people with whom I have discussed the article suggested it should have appeared on your front page!

It is gratifying to know that at least a few folks will take the time to voice their opinions, making a desperate effort to make our citizens mindful of the fact that God still rules over all, yes, even the classroom!

Thank you.

Sincerely,
A READER

CITE SERVICE IN CEMETERY

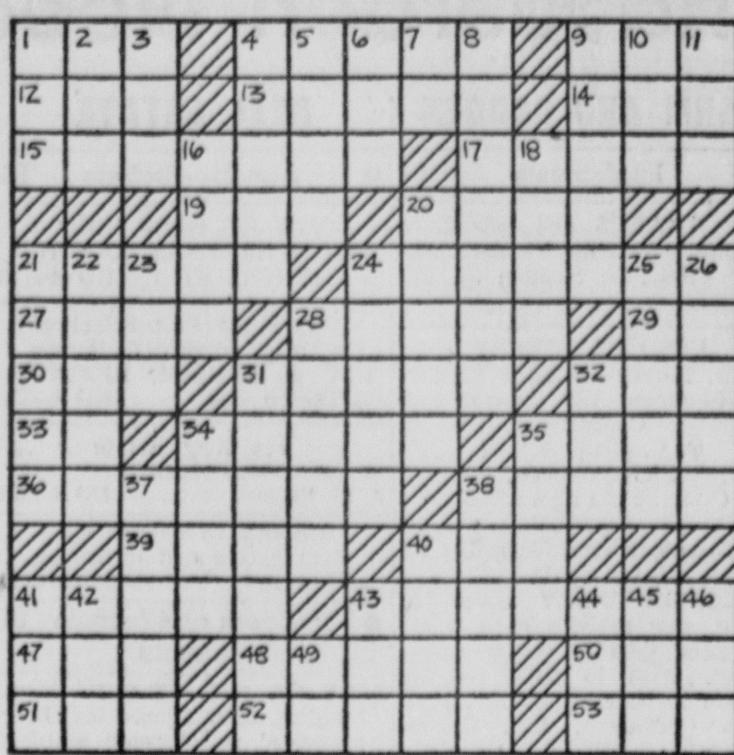

Congressman George A. Goodling was so impressed "with the Memorial Day exercises at Gettysburg" that he inserted a description of them in the Congressional Record on June 13.

"One of the highlights of the observance," he said, "one which

Once those details are out of the way, the order-proposer submits his document—plus seven copies—to the budget director, along with a letter explaining its "nature, purpose, background and effect."

NINE ORPHANS KEPT TOGETHER BY BIG SISTER

WARROAD, Minn. (AP)—The orphaned Foster family of nine children is happily bewildered today, but still together—thanks to the generosity of strangers.

When both of their parents died within a year, it looked as though the eight young Fosters remaining at the home here would have to move in with relatives.

Foster died last September from cancer, a year—almost to the day—after the same disease had claimed his wife.

$4,000 IN GIFTS

But 20-year-old Rita, the oldest of the clan of nine brothers and sisters, quit her job in Minneapolis and came to Warroad last fall, determined that the family keep on "growing up together."

Her determination attracted attention of the Grand Forks, N.D., Herald, which made its story on the Fosters available to the Associated Press for national distribution, along with a family picture.

Touched by Rita's decision to take on this responsibility, the nation answered with nearly 2,000 letters containing some $4,000 in cash and gifts.

"I just don't understand it yet," says Rita. "Why, these people have never seen us, they never even heard of us before."

The family now lives on those official payments. The gift money remaining has been banked against future emergencies.

NOT OPPOSED TO RELEASE OF PRISONER

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Dauphin County district attorney says no good purpose would be served by the continued imprisonment of Clayton A. Lanside, a principal in the multimillion dollar Pennsylvania Turnpike fraud cases of several years ago.

Dist. Atty. Martin H. Lock told the State Pardons Board Tuesday he would not oppose the release of the Shillington man.

Lanside made his second appeal to the board for reduction of his 22 to 47-month sentence for conspiracy and false pretense.

Reduction of Lanside's minimum term would make him eligible for parole immediately. Although convicted in 1958, he has served only 15 months of the term in Dauphin County prison.

His attorney, David J. Conroy of Clarks Summit, described Lanside as "a little man in the overall picture."

Conroy told the board that Lanside's father has come out of retirement to operate a small business for the family until the son is able to take over. The father has a heart condition, Conroy added.

Lanside's wife, now living in Dalton, Lackawanna County, also appeared in behalf of her husband, who was not present.

Lanside was general manager and vice president of the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., which held the prime contract to fill abandoned mines under the roadbed of the turnpike's Northeast Extension.

The job was designed to stabilize the roadbed but the state claimed it was charged for work never actually done; that the job should have cost less than $50,000. The contract provided for payment of $19.5 million.

The Pardons Board took Lanside's plea under advisement.

GOP Names Burlein To Assist Bloom

HARRISBURG (AP)—Lester F. Burlein of Honesdale was named today as assistant Republican state chairman for the 1962 election campaign, George I. Bloom, GOP state chairman, announced.

Burlein, Wayne County GOP chairman, also served as regional leader for the party in the 10-county northeast area.

Burlein was an early backer of U.S. Rep. William W. Scranton for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

He had been mentioned as a possible candidate to succeed Bloom who was re-elected to a two-year term last Saturday without opposition.

Burlein served as assistant chairman of the Scranton-Van Zandt primary campaign committee.
